Studio Policies and Procedures

STUDIO ATMOSPHERE

Bullying, gossiping, and associated negative behavior is not tolerated under any circumstance and may result in dancers/ parents being excused from the studio. Any negative behavior should be brought to the attention of TPDA faculty immediately. A meeting with TPDA Directors may be called if a parent or student fails to maintain a positive attitude while on the premises.

There are TV screens in the lobby for parents to observe classes. Parents may not open studio doors during class or enter the studios unless invited. This is disruptive to class and could negatively affect the teacher's authority in the classroom. Parents with a concern or question should leave a message at the front desk or email the studio at info@turningpointedanceacademy.org and not interrupt teachers in between classes.

COSTUMES

Costume fees are billed to accounts in December. The costume fee is $65.00 + tax except for ballet production costumes. The costume fee covers the cost of the costume, not shoes and tights. Shoes and tights are the responsibility of the dancer/ parents. Please check with your classroom teacher for specific tights/ shoe color and styles. The studio has ballet shoes, tights and leotards for sale at the front desk. Once distributed, families are responsible for keeping costumes clean and protected. Please note it is customary for costumes to need minor alterations once they arrive.

SPRING PERFORMANCES

Performance fee(s) will be added to each students account May 1, 2021. Additional tickets will be available for purchase once June tuition is paid in full.

COMMUNICATION/ NEWSLETTERS

Turning Pointe's primary method of communication is through email. Bi-monthly newsletters are sent with reminders and important information about classes and upcoming studio events. It is the parent's responsibility to read through all studio emails. The Turning Pointe website is a good resource for families looking for up to date information about studio events. We also post regularly and enjoy interacting with students and parents on our Facebook (@turningpointedanceacad) and Instagram (@turningpointe).
